So thinking, she moves slowly though deliberately up to him, regarding the while with absolute fervor the exquisite though frail geranium blossom she carries in her hand. Pg 175 It is only partly opened, and is delicately tinted as her own skin. When she is quite close to her guardian she raises her head, and instantly affects a deliciously surprised little manner at the fact of his unexpected () nearness. Ah, Sir Guy, you here she says, airily, with an apparent consummate forgetfulness of all past broils. You are just in time: see what a lovely flower I have for you. Is not the color perfect Is it not sweet proffering to him the pale geranium. It is, replies he, taking the flower mechanically, because it is held out to him, but hardly looking at it. His face is pale with suppressed anger, his lips are closely set beneath his fair moustache; she is evidently not forgiven. And yet I think, he says, slowly, if you knew my opinion of you, you would be the last to offer me a flower. And what then is your opinion demands Lilian, growing whiter and whiter until all her pretty face has faded to the paleness o the pearl. Instinctively she recoils a little, as though some slight blow has touched and shaken her. I think you a heartless coquette, returns he, distinctly, in a low tone that literally rings with passion. Take back your gift. Why should you waste it upon one who does not care to have it And, flinging the flower contemptuously at her...
